Introduction and FAQs

This guide has been created to assist members of IATSE Local 891 with their professional training plans. All approved training has a limit on spending and is awarded to members on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Only active members in good standing who have worked a minimum of 30 days in the preceding three years (either on IATSE Local 891 signatory productions and/or by providing member services work for Local 891) qualify for training funds, unless they have been unable to meet the 30-day requirement as a result of absences due to disability, parental, political or educational leave. Members who have made themselves available to work through dispatch, but who have not received a call through dispatch, may access union training funds.

The 30-day requirement does not apply to the following IATSE Local 891 courses, or safety related courses:

- Shop Steward Course
- Anti-Harassment and Bullying
- OFA Level 1
- WHMIS
- BC Fed Occupational Health and Safety courses

Shop Steward Course

IATSE Local 891 has developed the Shop Steward Training course, which includes new policies and information relating to the Union's collective agreement, the exploration of resources to help stewards with their duties, and the participation of stewards in sharing their experience.

Anti-Bullying, Harassment and Discrimination in the Workplace

This 891-designed workshop addresses the following questions:

Are you being bullied & harassed at work?

Do you know your rights & responsibilities?

Do you want skills to address bullying & harassment at work?

IMPORTANT: The deadline for submission of 2018 course or software receipts is January 15, 2019. To qualify for reimbursement, all course receipts must be submitted together with proof of course completion, such as a certificate.

Departmental Training

Department specific training is open to every full member of that department that has worked a minimum of 30 days over the last 3 years. Each department creates a training proposal based on its needs. Departmental training expires at the end of each calendar year.

Why isn't the course I want to take on the list?

Your department has likely not included it in their submission to the Executive Committee. If you would like to address the issue, you are encouraged to attend your department's next meeting and present your ideas for your department's training and upgrading needs.

How do I get reimbursed?

Submit your official receipt and a copy of your certificate to training@iatse.com. If the school where you took your training does not provide a certificate, please provide a confirmation of completion from the school in the form of a letter. Your reimbursement cheque is issued by mail in approximately 2-3 weeks. Training reimbursements are processed in the budgetary calendar year in which the expenses were incurred with a January 15 deadline for prior year course receipts. The deadline for submission of 2018 course receipts is January 15, 2019. Courses completed should be submitted in the year taken to qualify for reimbursement. There is a limit to spending and reimbursement is on a first come, first served basis based on availability of funds in the training budgets.

IMPORTANT: The deadline for submission of 2018 course or software receipts is January 15, 2019. To qualify for reimbursement, all course receipts must be submitted together with proof of course completion, such as a certificate.

Actsafes STAR System

Actsafes is the not-for profit association dedicated to the promotion of workplace health and safety in the Motion Picture and Performing Arts industries in British Columbia. Governed by the industry for the industry, their mandate includes providing industry related health & safety information, education, and training. When the industry perceives a need, Actsafes responds.

The Actsafes STAR (Safety Training and Records) System is an online database intended to record and track worker training and certification. Through the STAR System, workers are able to record their training and track expiry dates. Their personal profile page can be printed and attached to their resume to list their training. Employers can access worker training information, review certifications online, exercising the due diligence required by WorkSafeBC and Federal law.

The database can be accessed at <http://www.actsafe.ca>. To register or if you have any questions about Actsafes Safety STAR, please contact Actsafes at 604-733-4682 or courses@actsafe.ca

A variety of Actsafes STAR courses are 100% reimbursable by IATSE Local 891 where a course fee is charged. Courses completed are required to be submitted in the year taken to qualify for reimbursement. The deadline for submission of 2018 course receipts is January 15, 2019.

All IATSE Local 891 members in good standing and who meet the 30 days worked in the last 3 years on 891 Productions requirement are eligible for 100 per cent reimbursement for the following courses at Actsafes. Submit your receipt and certificate copy to training@iatse.com for reimbursement:

- Aerial Platform (inexperienced and experienced)
- Counterbalanced Forklift (inexperienced and experienced)
- Fall Protection
- Technical Safety – Firearm Safety (no charge)
- Rough Terrain Forklift (inexperienced and experienced)
- Motion Picture Safety Awareness (no charge)
- Transportation of Dangerous Goods - online
- WHMIS - online

IMPORTANT: The deadline for submission of 2018 course or software receipts is January 15, 2019. To qualify for reimbursement, all course receipts must be submitted together with proof of course completion, such as a certificate.

BC FED Safety Training

Several times each year for the benefit of our members, the union schedules BC Fed Safety Courses held at the IATSE Local 891 office. Pre-registration is required, and the reduced registration fee of $50.00 will be reimbursed upon the member's successful course completion. Please check the Training Registration page of the Local 891 website for availability of any of the following courses:

- Occupational Health and Safety Committee Part 1
- Incident Investigations
- Supervisor OH & S Responsibilities Part 1

Members who are interested in pursuing additional safety courses offered by the BC Fed Health and Safety Centre, are also eligible for 100 per cent reimbursement of BC FED course registration fees. The BC Fed website provides a complete list of available courses, and costs. <https://www.healthandsafetybc.ca> . To be reimbursed, members must submit their course registration receipt and certificate to the union. The "30-day worked" requirement does not apply to any of the BC Fed Safety Courses, which are open to all Local 891 members in good standing.

IMPORTANT: The deadline for submission of 2018 course or software receipts is January 15, 2019. To qualify for reimbursement, all course receipts must be submitted together with proof of course completion, such as a certificate.

Departmental Training

About Training

Each department submits an annual proposal to the Executive Committee for funding approval. At the end of the calendar year, access to funds expires and the department then reviews and resubmits a new proposal for the following year.

Reimbursements

To submit for reimbursement, a member must be in good standing and a full member of the department for which the training is approved and meet the 30-day worked requirement. Should you have any indebtedness to the Local, by submitting for reimbursement you are giving the Local permission to deduct all outstanding indebtedness from your reimbursement.

To receive a reimbursement for training, a member must provide the office with the original receipt and confirmation of successful completion within 60 days of completion of the training. On-line receipts are now accepted from institutions that offer on-line registration

The office will then confirm the training has been approved for reimbursement and process the member's request.

The union will return the receipt to the member along with the reimbursement cheque.

Limit on Spending

All training reimbursement proposals have a limit on spending and are awarded to members on a first-come, first-serve basis.

IMPORTANT: The deadline for submission of 2018 course or software receipts is January 15, 2019. To qualify for reimbursement, all course receipts must be submitted together with proof of course completion, such as a certificate.
